For over a century folk have flocked to the Goldfields in the hope of "striking it lucky". It is a land of red dirt, big open skies and rich gold deposits. The Goldfields hosts a wealth of history and culture with a raw beauty to the region. The coastal towns of Esperance and Albany are regions supported by agriculture, horticulture, mining, marine industries and tourism. Both locations are retirement destinations for farmers from surrounding regions and have become increasingly popular as a "seachange" away from more developed coastal tourist getaways.
